New Brunswick students visit

Twenty five Grade 9 students and two instructors from Ecole Beausejour, Moncton, New Brunswick, found a new way to study the industries, geography and lifestyle of western Canada, on their 'Voyage Exchange' to Alberta last week.

Much of the week was spent in the St. Paul area, where the students were hosted by their counterparts at Racette School, who will be paying a return visit to the east coast in early May. Their visit has included tours of St. Paul's museum, grain elevators, beef and dairy farms, a meeting with Mayor Paul Langevin and Town Council, trips to the Saddle Lake Indian Reserve and to a Hutterite colony, and an evening of multicultural entertainment. On Thursday, the group visited Edmonton, taking in the Provincial Museum and West Edmonton Mall.

More new sights were in store on Friday, when the busload of students headed eastward, for lunch at F. G. Miller High School, Elk Point, followed by tours of the Canadian Salt plant at Lindbergh, and the Pan Canadian Petroleum and Amoco Canada operations in the oilfield south of Elk Point.

At Amoco, the students were welcomed by Senior Field Foreman Marshall Kachmar and saw a slide presentation explaining the process by which heavy crude oil is extracted from Amoco's 375 wells now in production. Production Engineer Bob Bowman explained that the 'thick, gooeey, sand-laden oil' found in the Lindbergh oilfield is unique because heat or steam must be applied to thin the oil sufficiently to pump it to the surface. Bowman said that in the winter, oil becomes so thick it cannot be poured, and must be thinned out with water and chemicals to be transported by pipeline.

The students were then taken by bus into Amoco's production area, where they saw tank trucks coming in from the production wells to dump their contents, other trucks being loaded with cleaned oil for transport to Lloydminster, mammoth storage tanks and the horizontal treating units where sand and other impurities are removed from the oil.

Not far from the plant, the students saw a well servicing rig in operation, where insulated tubing was being installed for the recovery of heated oil from a well, following the injection of steam to another well nearby, in Amoco's thermal recovery pilot project.

From there, the bus travelled south and west to a 'well pad,' where 17 slanted, straight and directional wells form a circle in a 20 acre parcel in the middle of a section of land. Oil extracted from these wells is treated on the site and pipelined to the Amoco plant. Bowman told the group that the pad concept cuts costs by eliminating trucking, leaves more land free for agricultural production, and reduces the danger of environmental damage.

Their visit to the oilfield was only one of those to 'a wide variety of industries we don't have,' one of the group's instructors noted. 'There is something new for just about everyone on this trip.'

The students left St. Paul Saturday morning for Jasper, and planned to travel on to Banff before leaving for home Monday, from Calgary International Airport. 'It has been quite a journey,' according to the instructors, 'and will not soon be forgotten.'

OILPATCH VISITORS—students and instructors from Moncton, NB, toured Amoco's heavy oil plant and directional drilling pad for a first-hand look at one of Alberta's primary industries last week. The group came to Alberta on a 'Voyage Exchange' with students of Racette Junior High School, St. Paul, and enjoyed many new sights and experiences on their visit to the West.

Town studies servicing plan

The Town of Elk Point's new Municipal Servicing Plan was presented to Council Monday night, with five main areas recommended for consideration by the Town in the immediate future.

Brian Bennett, P.Eng., of Stanley Associates Engineering Ltd., told Council that the inadequacy of the current water supply source is of prime concern. The yearly requirements of the Town exceed the 185,000 cubic metres they are permitted to draw from Atimoswe Creek, and a study to determine an adequate source of additional water has been recommended.

Elk Point's sewage lagoon has been deemed adequate for a population of 1700, but the infiltration of groundwater has some impact on its capacity. An expansion of the facility will likely be required within a few years.

The Town's treated water storage facilities will also need to expand as the population increases, with the present storage adequate for a population of 1500. Additional storage would help the Town to cope with peak usage demands, provide more water for fire protection and give the plant more leeway if it had to be shut down for repairs.

Sanitary sewer lines leading to the industrial area would need to be upgraded as that area grows, while storm drainage in the area of 50 Avenue and 51 Street also is a concern, Bennett said. Other areas to be considered are camera inspection of older sewer lines, and underground improvements necessary before

Chamber hears concerns

Elk Point's younger generation was cause for both jubilation and concern at last Wednesday's regular Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The jubilation stemmed from news of multiple achievements by the Elk Point and District Ukrainian Dance Club at a dance festival in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. The Elk Point group was the lone contingent from Alberta taking part in the event, and brought home nine medals, as well as trophies and scholarships, as the result of their competition against almost 400 other dancers. It was noted that the Dance Club supported the trip with a series of fundraising activities, rather than asking for donations toward the trip.

A concern that persons under the legal age of 16 years have been purchasing cigarettes from local businesses was brought to the Chamber. It was noted that this is a provincial law, rather than a local ruling, and its enforcement does not fall under the Chamber's mandate. The problem will be referred to the RCMP. It was noted that numerous merchants do uphold this law, and will not sell tobacco products to anyone under 16.

The Chamber's delegate to the Tourism Industry Association of Alberta conference in Medicine Hat, Billie Milholland, reported that much interest was shown in the upcoming development of the fur trading forts as a major tourist destination. The reviving of an association to promote the Buffalo Trail (Highway 41) also is in the planning stages.

Studies to determine the low numbers of visitors to some tourist attractions show one problem to be a lack of directional signage on main routes, Ms Milholland reported. A discussion of signage on a more local basis ensued, with a decision to look into the cost of signage which would indicate to tourists what businesses and services could be found in Elk Point.

Another widespread tourism problem is the lack of accurate information on fishing, for distribution at tourist information centres.

A decision was made to open the Tourist Booth on a temporary basis for the May long weekend, if sufficient volunteers to man it could be found.

EDUCATION WEEK IN ELK POINT—started with a hearty pancake breakfast for the students at Elk Point Elementary School, served up with a smile by teachers and parents. More Education Week news on pages 10 and 11.

street construction. Estimated costs for all potential improvements should be updated before use, he noted.

Council also met with Fire Chief Bill Marцениuk and Fire Fighters Association President Craig Stone, to discuss a proposal for the acquisition a new, fully equipped emergency response vehicle. The estimated cost of such a vehicle would be $37,500, Stone said, and funding for a major portion of this may be available under the Regional Response Improvement Program through Alberta Public Safety Services. Council agreed to approve the purchase in principle, and to consider this while working on the 1989 budget. Radio equipment is also being considered in the budget.

Fire Chief Marцениuk said that there is an urgent need for more firefighters who work in Elk Point during the daytime, as most of those now part of the department work out of town, and are not available if a fire is reported at that time. He also hoped that any new fire department members would be available to attend training courses in Vermilion.

RCMP surveillance in recent weeks has had a substantial impact on the problem of traffic congestion in the area of 51 Street between Elk Point Elementary School and F. G. Miller High School, Council was told. Several tickets have been issued, and the RCMP has indicated they are prepared to continue their increased patrols of the area as long as is necessary. The Works committee studying the problem also felt that eliminating the least heavily used of the three crosswalks between the schools would help, as would the organization of an adult crossing-guard brigade, a traffic safety education program for students and adults, and the establishment of an additional bus loading area in the parking lot south of the high school.

May 1 to 5 has been designated as Anti-Litter Week, and the Town's garbage contractor will be warned to expect increased quantities of refuse that week, as Elk Point residents take part in the annual clean-up campaign.

Council has decided to conduct a municipal census in 1989.

THEY'RE THE GREATEST!—Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club members brought home the top honors from the Optimist Dance Festival in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, where they were the only Alberta group taking part. Congratulations, gang, we're all proud of you! The Club will present their annual Spring Concert next week, so you can see their talent for yourself.

Ukrainian dancers win medals

By Margaret Bayduza

On April 14, 15 and 16, the Elk Point and District Ukrainian Dance Club attended the Second Annual Prince Albert Optimist Ukrainian Dance

Festival in Saskatchewan. Although we were unknown when we arrived, except as the only out-of-province club, everyone had heard of us when we left.

Nine dances were entered, and nine dances placed in the medal standings. All marks were over 80 percent, and three of the scores were in the 90 percent range.

On Friday, our Beginner Dancers, who consist of Charissa Brown, Raegan Croteau, Peter Danyluk, Kenna Hillebrand, Tessa Sakowsky and Bryce Sereda won a gold medal with a score of 85 percent, with a Poltow-ski dance. Marion Hillebrand followed with a gold, with a score of 83 percent, for her Volyn solo. Our Junior Group, consisting of Tommy Bayduza, Melodie Bober, Robyn Danyluk, Leslie Hillebrand, Michelle Hillebrand, Kathy Kozina and Christina Sereda, won a gold with a score of 85 percent with their Hutzul dance. Later that night our Senior Group consisting of Margaret Bayduza, Steven Bayduza, Elana Drobot, Michael Estey, Marion Hillebrand, Beverley Hillebrand, Tracy Oryshchuk, Sheldon Porcina, Lori Porcina, Linda Shmyr and Jodi Vogel also took a gold with 88 percent, doing a Hutzul dance.

Saturday started with a bronze medal with a score of 84 percent for Beverley Hillebrand and Margaret Bayduza's duet. Sheldon Porcina and Dwayne Vogel took a gold with their duet which earned 94 percent.

All dancers took part in the Pryveet, which scored 90 percent and took a silver medal. Jodi Vogel and Elana Drobot earned a bronze medal for their character duet with a score of 87 percent. The competition closed with an electrifying Hopak by the Seniors which captured the gold at an incredible 96 percent. The adjudicator was completely amazed with the high caliber of dancing.

Sunday featured the Star Performance of the best of the competition. Invited to perform again were our Beginners, Seniors Sheldon Porcina and Dwayne Vogel, and to close the show, our Seniors with their Hopak.

After the performance, trophies and scholarships were awarded to the winners. Our beginners took the Crescent Heights Pharmacy trophy for Novice-Highest Mark. Sheldon and Dwayne were awarded a $50 Mackenzie Funeral Chapel scholarship for Male Duet, 13 years and over, highest mark. Each also received a plaque.

The Senior Group and their Hopak recieved a $200 P. A. Optimist scholarship for Poltavshi Mixed Large Group—12 years and over, highest mark. They also received the St. George's Parish trophy for the Highest Mark Overall.

There were 394 dancers competing, and we were the highest, with a 96 percent. So, when you meet our dancers, please stop and congratulate them. They deserve it. You would have been proud of them.

Walking fever!

By Gail Kozicky

The inaugural meeting of the Walking for Fun and Fitness Support Club was held at the Elk Point Public Library, April 19, at 7:00 p.m., with several interested walkers in attendance.

The group discussed the future structure and goals of the club. It was felt that the club could provide information, support and companionship.

Some thought that walking the same route regularly was monotonous and perhaps the club could look into designing some in-town walks at certain distances, and there are other areas such as Ross Lake and the golf course that offer excellent scenery.

On May 1st the New Walking Club would like to invite everyone interested, to our first walk. Meet us at the library at 7:00 p.m. to begin our in-town walk to last about half an hour, and return to the Library for a short meeting and coffee. This is a good opportunity to get in shape for the Lions "Journey for Sight" walk-a-thon, May 6, 1989.

John Drobot delivers grant to gymnasts

By Irene Magnusson

Constable Doug Huskins accepts for the Elk Point and District Gymnastics Club, of which he is President, a LARGE cheque in the amount of $2500, delivered by M.L.A. John Drobot on behalf of the Alberta Sports Council. The Gymnastics Club, which now has some 65 members registered, plans to commence activities again in October, by which time it is hoped the renovations at the Elk Point Elementary School will be complete.

This group encompasses activities for all ages, from 2 year-olds in the Moms-and-Tots programs, through to adults. Programs are planned for twice-weekly sessions and are open to all, boys and girls alike. There will be a registration fee, as yet undetermined.

The funds received April 17, according to Doug Huskins, will be used for purchase of floor mats and balance beams, etc., and it definitely sounds like fun. It is planned to have three instructors.

A desire to serve the people

By Irene Magnusson

Helmut Entrop was a one-time trouble shooter for Unifarm, working for the farmers rights, part of the reason a farmer today gets somewhat more out of it than a few dollars and a messy hole in the ground when an oil company drills on his land; later he worked as Farmers' Advocate for the Alberta Government, defending the farmer's rights as if they were his own. Lately, he has been a Community Liaison Officer, working for the Hon. Ken Kowalski, Minister of Career Development and Employment, Responsible for Lotteries. Enough to keep anyone busy, you'd think?

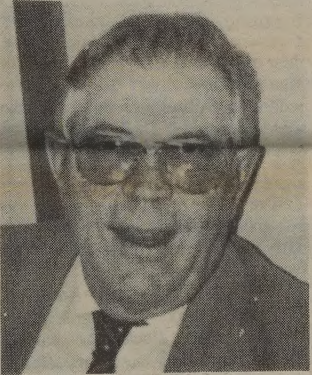

Not so. Mr. Entrop, retiring last year, enjoyed his summer of fishing and travelling and loafing - but he just couldn't take it. He was bored stiff before the year was out. So - back to work. Last week, he was in Elk Point to hear submissions and requests from the Town Council for Grant funds, under the Lotteries Act, for the Community Facility Enhancement Program.

Working with M.L.A. John Drobot, in this area, as he does with other M.L.A.s all over the province, he was in Elk Point to help work out the best use for the area of the funds available - not an easy task.

Nor are Mr. Entrop's ambitions ending now. In March, he was appointed to the Alberta Agriculture Hall of Fame. Where he wants to be next is sitting in the Senate Chamber, in the House of Parliament in Ottawa, as a 3-E Senator, Effective, Elected & Equal. He is working toward that end. Best wishes, Mr. Entrop - in your continuing desire to serve the people of Alberta.

Letter To The Editor

Reform Party's foothold

The bielection in Beaver River is history and Debbie Grey of the Reform Party is installed in the House of Commons as a member of Parliament.

Dave Broda, the defeated P.C. candidate said that he would be back to run again when the next election is called and is confident that he will win.

Let me predict, Dave, that you will never catch Debbie and she will win by a greater margin next time.

Your only chance is in another riding and you will do better under the Reform Party banner than as a P.C.

Mr. Mazankowski told us that Debbie will not have much effect on Parliament as a lone Party member. If he is serious in his statement then he is revealing to us just how callous his government is to someone who does not belong to it. He is telling the 72,000 people in this riding, many who voted for him before the boundaries changed, that we do not matter, that we will not be listened to. The unconcern of the government, Don, is a very big reason why Debbie is in parliament and Dave is not.

Someone said that Debbie is just a breath against a hurricane. That is empty talk as there have been many small voices, weak and abused, that have turned into powers to be reckoned with, be it in politics, religion, missionaries on foreign soil, or social programs, etc. The ball is rolling and it will gain momentum. Grant Notley was a breath against a hurricane in Alberta politics for many years and his efforts have paid off.

Mr. Broda would be less than a breath if he was in Ottawa and as a back benchner he forced to raise his hand with the Prime Minister and his caucus, doing far less for us in the Beaver Riding than Debbie will. Woe be to him if he takes an opposing view to Government as David Kilgour of Edmonton found out.

How thankful we should be that Debbie is not shackled by such chains but is free to boldly present our views in Ottawa. When the next election is called she will be joined by many more Reform Party members, one of them being Mr. Preston Manning, the leader of the party. The last two governments have taken us into unbelievable bankruptcy and we hope that Debbie's voice will be heard as we coach her to speak out against the terrible and foolish mistakes the Government is allowed to make and hopefully open the eyes of those that are leading our country.

In her speech to the throne Debbie has spoken things that Dave Broda would never have thought of saying. She mentioned the unfairness of the National Energy Program and the moving of the CF 18 contract to Montreal. She told the Government it was too centralized in orientation, always caving in to the cries and threats of the east and neglecting the more thinly populated areas.

You gave a good speech Debbie and made an impressive start. Keep it up as we are behind you and will help to turn your breath into a strong wind blowing some great ideas into our parliamentary system. Our prayer for her should be that she will be a good thinker and orator and a great voice on behalf of those of us living in the west.

Alberta Trails

Adventures of Alberta and her friends

By Irene Magnusson

Alberta lived near a Crooked Creek, in a Big Coulee, Three Hills looming above, topped by a spindly Spruce Grove. She longed for a Meadowview, and the Grassland. She decided to go Crossfield to visit her friends at the castle. Leaping over Brooks, past the Beaverdam, over the Big Stone, she sped.

She found the Duchess Caroline visiting there, with her two young daughters. Caroline's sister, the Countess Patricia was out in the paddock, their mother the Empress Hilda just home from the Coronation, which she had attended with her son Frank and her Consort, Guy.

The Empress was tired and crabby. Everyone went outdoors, so they would Botha her. The Duchess soon found a hammock in a shady nook.

Alberta went off on a Tangent, searching for the Countess Patricia. She had a Wildhorse, she said, out in the Grassland, Riding was her favorite sport, but the pony was skittish and would Stand Off whenever a Stranger came near. His name was Westward Ho, and he had a Blackfoot and a white Star on his forehead. The Countess needed help.

She'd decided to try to find a helper, she told Alberta. She'd gone to the Indian Cabins to inquire for Pocahontas, and was met by a fellow carrying a Tomahawk. He said his name was Smith, and that his wife Pocahontas was out. He walked Onaway, Hinton that he had work to do in the Woodhouse. He was making a new Lodgepole. It seemed the Countess was out of luck.

Meanwhile, the Duchess Caroline had her maids Kathryn and Hanna post a Sentinel near her as she slept in her hammock. She said she feared the Buffalo Shepard who Hays in the Hairy Hills. She was never Lafond of Buffalo - or the Wildwood - at any time.

The Duchess' two young daughters, Rosemary and Rosalind, were not afraid of the woods. They went walking, and soon found a Violet Grove, with a Newbrook running by. They followed it to a lovely Sylvan Lake where they found a Tiger Lily, and later a Rosebud. Next they found a Wandering River, meandering down a Rivercourse, along a Sunnyslope, then off toward a Clear Prairie. The Meadow View of this Big Valley was indeed breathtaking. Some fellows were Manning a Skiffin a New Fish Creek. They also spotted a Crownsnest in a Redcliff, near the Entrance to some old Viking ruins.

"I'm off for home," Rosemary told her sister. "Alberta wants me to go with her to the Paradise Valley. She found Manyberries there."

"O.K.," said Rosalind. "I'm tired. I'll just rest under this Lone Pine for a bit. It's a long Rocky Lane back to the Throne room." Rosemary left and she soon dozed off.

She dreamed she was on her Hondo, roaring along a Sandy Beach, when suddenly a Constable flagged her down, and accused her of Spedden. This she denied.

"There are Seven Persons here ready to witness against you," said the Constable, about to take her off to Ft. Saskatchewan. Rosalind saw they were her schoolmates, Hazeldine, Kathleen, Dorothy and Raymond, with Hilliard, Morely and Millicent just behind them. They were frowning.

"Oh, dear!" she cried, "I don't want to go to the Fort!" crying out so loudly she awakened herself. Then she laughed at her dream. Why, she didn't even own a Hondo.

Meanwhile Alberta and Rosemary invited Tilley, the cook, and Dickson, the butler, to go along to the Blueberry Mountains just back of the Big Valley to help pick the berries she knew were there. Over in the woods, a wandering grizzly thought he had spotted a Bearberry, but it was not Goodfare, it was only a Castor.

"Demmit!" he growled softly. "That's enough to make one Bawfl!" He lumbered off into the Rolling Hills, mumbling, "I'll go back to the Beaverlodge for a snack, or try the Cherry Grove." He was a true Veteran of the Rolling Hills and the Alder Flats.

The four berry searchers walked softly through the silent forest, stepping over the Deadwood. Suddenly they spotted a large Red Deer, a Monarch of the Parkland. The Legend of the Ribstone came to their minds. "It could be a ghost!" Tilley, the cook said, rather shaken. The Mirror of their eyes showed they all agreed.

Then Alberta scoffed "Ghost! Shmost! Nothing has stone ribs!"

They all laughed and carried on. Soon they were in a Dewberry patch, filling their buckets rapidly.

Back at the castle, the Duchess Caroline was quarreling bitterly with her husband, the duke of Irvine. He requested a divorce, wanting his Freedom. It was the eternal Triangle - the Duchess, Irvine and the new maid, Cynthia.

"Oh, you and your young Venice!" cried Caroline, her face Vermilion with rage and jealousy. "Must I Monitor your every move?"

"Well, what about Bruce, the Chancellor?" roared Irvine, at the Boyle. "He seems to be your Champion whenever I'm away!"

"Oh, Irvine," the Duchess sobbed. "He means nothing to me. I love only you!"

Irvine thought of Cynthia's pretty face. He thought of Delia's pretty face, too. Well - they were only pretty faces. Better a Duchess in his clutches than two chicks in the Alder Flats. He must make amends. He put his arms around her Shouldice.

"I'm sorry I made you Stauffer," he said. "You are my own sweet Duchess!" They kissed and made up, while a nightingale sang softly overhead. There should be no talk of Reno, while he was Holden her.

"I will buy her a Gem," he thought.

"A large Black Diamond...and a tiny Opal for Cynthia," his second thought following the first. Delia would have to wait.

Alberta and her gang approached the trim Whitecourt of the castle, Bluesky above and Two Hills rising green beyond. It was a Fairview, with a large Cold Lake off to the side. They had full pails of berries and tired feet.

"Oh, Mallaig!" sighed Rosemary, "What a twinge!" She went off to bed. Alberta said her goodnights, took her pail of berries and went home. She, too, was glad to call it a day.

Tilley, the cook and Dickson, the butler were left to clean and cook the berries - or do as they pleased, as it was past quitting time.

Dickson wanted to marry Tilley, but her Olds man, who thought he was a Czar, was against it. He'd raved and threatened to Killam, but love came Foremost. Tilley, the cook married Dickson, the butler. It was a good Alliance, and Peace prevailed in the land. Overhead the wild geese honked, underground the oil gurgled, while dew formed on the long cool grass, as the Chinook sighed softly through the Grasslands.

Now, how many of "Alberta's" friends (place names) can you identify? (count the photo squibs, too).

Right to an education

It's Education Week. It's also Save The Children Week, in which we reflect on the United Nations declaration of the Rights of the Child. What could be more more appropriate than to observe these two weeks simultaneously?

The right to an education is one we often take for granted, but in many less developed and less prosperous countries it is considered a privilege, and something to which only the children of rich may look forward.

To educate children costs a considerable amount of money. In 1988, the County of St. Paul totalled their school operational expenditures at nearly $9.2 million. When this is divided by an enrollment of 1816 students, the per capita cost is in excess of $5000. That is a $60,000 investment in each youngster who attends school for the 12 years generally required to graduate.

On top of that, comes the many thousands of dollars per year required to send a high school graduate on to university.

To those in Third World countries, $60,000 would be an incomprehensibly vast sum--an amount which the average person could never earn in several lifetimes, and which would educate hundreds of children for a year.

Of course, their schools are far less sophisticated, tin huts with no need for heating plants or insulation, and such equipment as computers not even dreamed of. They are content--even delighted--with the bare essentials, both in their equipment and their curriculum. Just learning to read and write is a great accomplishment.

Our contributions to such charities as Save the Children Fund help to provide these basics, as well as food for empty stomachs and water sources for their communities. All these help to give these people a new chance at a more productive future and a better way of life.

We know, here, that the essentials of an education are often considered to include $70 sneakers, $100-plus prom dresses, and a cute little car to drive to school. We can only hope that these young people will find a few pennies left over to drop in the collection boxes to help other young people, far away, to have the essentials THEY need--such as books, and a teacher to help them learn how to read.

What's news at the library?

The Elk Point Public Library Board and staff would like to thank all the volunteers that made their booth at the Trade Fair so successful. Historical Society meets

By Irene Magnusson

The Elk Point and District Historical Society met at the Library, April 13, at the bidding of the President, Frank Mayner. Treasurer Lawrence Modin gave a financial report, showing the Society in good shape. The Forts Restoration Grant has been put to work, hiring researchers, buying a computer, renting a trailer for use of geologists at the Sites, etc.

Canada Day activities were not ignored, with the usual $250 donation approved, and a commitment formed to again produce and man a large "Canada" Map, for use as a "guest record" at the Canada Day celebrations. Consideration was given to preparing the Float, and entering it in the parade. Mike O'Neill volunteered to head that committee, with help from Paul Stepa and Sid Holthe. A theme will be decided upon. Mike O'Neill also volunteered to look after creation of the Map.

Congratulations were offered to Sid Holthe, on being recognized to receive an award for his dedication to things historical. He will receive it in Lethbridge later on.

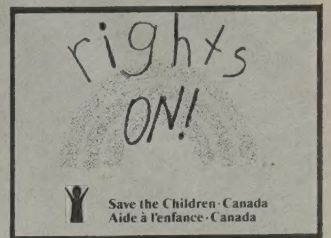

Pins have been ordered, to promote the Mural and the Forts, etc., and once approved, additional numbers will be ordered. These will help familiarize tourists and any visitors of the attractions around Elk Point. Work should commence on the Mural Park as soon as the soil is dry enough. Already dead grass has been burned away, along the creek.

Thoughts are continuing, to hold a barbecue at the Forts Site, to promote interest and as a celebration that activities have commenced. This will receive priority at the next meeting, which will be Monday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m., at the Elk Point Library.

This will be the Annual Meeting, with some replacement of executive members. It was noticed that Lawrence Modin has volunteered all the years as Treasurer since the group was formed on November 14, 1975, 13 and a half years ago. Ila Borowsky was appointed Historian on that date, also, and has continued in that capacity. The group agrees it is time others carried some of the load.

Mike O'Neill wound up the meeting by showing a series of slides he has taken of the historic mural, these were very entertaining and detailed. He has also produced a video of the project, both of these will be used to promote the attractions of Elk Point and District. Some of this material will be available for display at the June 9th Seniors Information Day, in Elk Point.

Canada Post Corporation

Keeping our commitment in rural Canada

One of the most important parts of our commitment to rural Canadians is making postal products and services more accessible.

To help us do this, we draw on the resources and the expertise of local business. Where practical, we are approaching business people in communities across the country and offering them the opportunity to provide you with postal products and services. As a result, you can now buy postal products or services in more locations at convenient hours, often including evenings and weekends.

Real benefits for everyone

More outlets. The objective is to increase the number of rural locations where you can access postal products or services from 5,000 to 7,000.

More convenience. Retail postal outlets are conveniently located in businesses close to other services in communities across Canada. Longer business hours give you even more accessibility to postal products.

More business for local merchants. Local merchants are being given an opportunity to provide postal products or services. This strengthens their business through increased customer traffic, and maintains the business base of the community.

More efficient service. With local merchants retailing postal products and services, Canada Post Corporation is able to concentrate on reliable pick-up, processing and delivery of mail to Canadians.

*Canada Post Corporation is delivering on its promise.
We're in rural Canada to stay.*

Education Week Special

Basketball season ends at F.G. Miller

SENIOR GIRLS' MVP—Jackie Gulayec is congratulated by FGM Girls Basketball Coach Ray Danyluk on a very successful season.

Basketball season for another year has come to a close at F.G. Miller. Congratulations to all players and coaches of both Junior and Senior High Teams. You had a busy season and we are all proud of your performances. Each player deserved an award, unfortunately only a few could be presented.

JR. HIGH

Amy Hawkins, Dorothea Naber & Lana Kozicky were given the Most Improved Player Award. Coach Danyluk said these three girls have come a long way since the beginning of the season and he is looking forward to next year.

Joe Young - Most Improved Player. Joe worked hard over the season and learned a great deal about the game.

Tanya Kenyon - Rookie of the Year. Tanya took the pressure in stride and played 100% some of the time, the rest of the time she played 110%. Kenyon played with her whole heart.

Danny Hanson - Rookie of the Year. Dan was probably the shortest player on the floor, but size meant nothing to him. He played hard and strong, out lasting many of the big guys.

Rhonda Rupchan - Best Defensive Player. Danyluk stated that Rupchan always had a smile and played hard to the end. Rhonda knew her mistakes and always worked on improving them. Good luck Rhonda.

Shaun Blize - Best Defensive Player. Shaun in his quiet way did his job and never hesitated to share a good play with the rest of the team.

Shannon Capjack - The Most Valuable Player. Danyluk commented that Shannon was the most valuable player on this team. She was the middle man between coach and players, she organized floor plans and kept the ball club running smoothly. Capjack was a good example to her Jr. High Team. Congratulations Shannon.

Stewart Peterson - The Most Valuable Player. Stewart Peterson is a fine example of a Sportsman. The game of basketball was certainly meant for him. Keep up the good play Stewart, you'll go places.

SENIOR HIGH

Barbara Naber - Rookie of the Year. Naber was our stable force under the basket throughout the year. "In zones, everyone was a star, but Naber shone the brightest" says Coach Danyluk. Good Luck Barb.

Mike Bepalko - Rookie of the Year. Basketball was another sport where Bepalko displayed his great athletic abilities. Rookie of the Year is only a small award compared to the job Mike did for his team this season. Keep it up Mike.

Lori Irvine - Best Defensive Player. Irvine anchored our team with her defensive ability. "She is our most intense player" says Danyluk "and we are looking to Lori to lead our team next year".

Sheldon Porcina - Best Defensive Player. Sheldon played with a lot of heart. He worked hard and never let his team down. Sheldon was a definite plus under the basket. Keep up the good work.

Jackie Gulayec - Most Valuable Player. Jackie was our quarterback. Defense, offense, rebounds and ball control were all her specialties. Gulayec played like each game was her last. "Jackie, don't quit bouncing that ball - don't only think of your own pleasure in playing the game but the pleasure you give some many younger upcoming players and stars" says Danyluk. You are MVP. A celebrated ambassador for basketball and sports. Congratulations and good luck next year Jackie. Keep bouncing.

David Hellquist - Most Valuable Player. David was the strength, the leader and the quarterback to our team. With his sportsmanship, good nature and quiet manner he earned great respect from each and every player on the team. We hope Dave leaves F.G. Miller with as many memories and he has helped us to make. Good luck next year Dave, and we will miss you on our team.

Thanks to all the coaches and parents for the many unselfish hours you spent with the students at F.G. Miller.

JUNIOR GIRLS' MVP—Shannon Capjack also enjoyed a good year. Here she is congratulated by Coach Danyluk at the Girls Basketball Windup.

FASHIONABLE ART—F. G. Miller art students and their instructor, Kaz Lazicki, proudly display a colorful collection of hand decorated t-shirts, which were completed as part of this year's art program.

Canada's unforgettable years

Remember them?
They were our friends and family.
Men sharing a couple of beers. Those were the days everyone loved.
Until, CANADA'S UNFORGETTABLE YEARS.
Remember them?
Some men were big, with guns.

Never did the men hear any cheers.
Those were the days the kids quit playing.
During CANADA'S UNFORGETTABLE YEARS.
Remember them?
They died, but with pride. Many people were filled with tears. Many men were underage.

IN THE FORGETTABLE YEARS.
CANADA'S UNFORGETTABLE YEARS.

Dinosaurs and more dinosaurs

Dinosaurs lived many years before men ever walked the earth. They lived all over; everywhere you turned you would see them.

The biggest dinosaur was a plant eater. His name was Supersaurus!

He was really, really big!

He was so big he had to go where there wasn't many other dinosaurs.

He had it all upstairs all right.

Supersaurus was so smart that he knew to stay away from the meat-eating dinosaurs.

He actually wasn't afraid of the meat-eaters.

The biggest meat-eater is Tyrannosaurus Rex!

He had teeth as long and sharp as knives. He could open his mouth a full 4 feet! Since his teeth were so sharp, he could rip huge chunks of meat without chewing!

He was 50 feet long and as tall as a telephone pole. His front legs were tiny, but his back legs were big and strong. Even though his legs were strong, Tyrannosaurus Rex could only run 5 miles per hour.

Whenever he came around all the other dinosaurs ran away! All but one. Triceratops! He was much bigger than a horse or a cow. He was a ten-ton animal!

Triceratops had two horns above his eyes that were 3 feet long. He also had a horn above his nose that was 10 inches long. He had a huge shield on the back of his head. He was brave enough to stay and fight the meat-eaters. Can you believe that? He was really, really strong!

Some dinosaurs had armor you know. One dinosaur had big plates of bone. They called him Stegosaurus. He had 4 long-sharp spikes about 6 inches from the end of his tail. No other animal would want to get close to him!

Stegosaurus herds were known to be as large as 2,000,000 stegosauruses! These were plant eaters and had brains the size of prunes! They stood 8 feet high and were about as long as two cars. That is long!

I'm crazy about dinosaurs, I wish I was alive when they were alive!

Spring

Spring is coming. I like Spring because it's warm and because I can go outside more. Sometimes I can go in the tree house.

We get to go in the swimming pool. It is so cold our lips are purple. Adam shivers when he gets out. He screams and then he wraps a towel around himself to warm up.

Monster Evening

One fine summer day as I was strolling across the prairie with my dog, he spotted a cave on the hillside and began to yelp.

Quickly I ran over to see what he had discovered.

Cautiously we entered the darkness. Then... my dog and I discovered the monster had three big red flashing eyes and green hair. It was coming towards us. I had nowhere to run. I slowly took a deep breath and he slowly came, but I was surprised. He was nice and gentle. We had lots of fun together. He looked real queer, but we still had fun. He showed us all around. Then I got tired. The monster said, "You-u-u-u-u can stay-y-y with me-e-e over-r-r-r night." In the morning my buddy was passing by and showed me home and we took the monster too. Mother said "Ouu, what is that thing? Build him a pen in your room." My dog liked the monster he kept it company while I was at school and they lived happily ever after.

Guess my mystery pet

My pet is a Sneekanez Puppy. I want one because they're cute. I would get him at a pet shop. I would keep it at my place in the basement. It would eat scraps from the table and other things. He would roll over, fetch little things and play with me. I've always wanted a Sneekanez Puppy. He would always sleep on my bed at night. My pet is the color of the night. I would call him Terry. My pet would be really shaggy. Before I got him we had to talk it over.
